

Raise a Glass

In fellowship and harmony we're pleased to call you friends
When you beckon we will follow, until the very end
You're our brothers and our sisters and in comradeship we'll be
And raise a glass in parting
Good health and wealth to thee

We have travelled North and Southward
From the east into the west
We have gone beyond the Humber shores
And journeyed without rest
We have shared the joyous sunrise
With the very best of all
And we raise a glass in parting
Peace and love to you and yours.

And we hope that you have joined us
In the spirit of the song
That a part of us will stay with you
And that we will now belong
To a small place in your memory
Where we'll remain with thee
And we raise a glass in parting
May your life be full and free

And now the glass is empty and our
Farewells have been said
Whilst we are travelling homeward
You'll be sleeping in your beds
But the sun will shine tomorrow
On a glorious brand new day
And we'll raise a glass in welcome
To the new friends we have made

Note; Linda didn't like "A Parting Glass" so she wrote her own farewell song.
